MORE POWERFUL BOUNDARY GROUP?

INNOVATION — Lemon Grove Fire Chief Harold L. Hensley, prepares to slide down pole from sleeping quarters in new addition to fire department building. Old building was all on one floor, so firemen had no traditional pole to slide down. New addition also contains modern kitchen, dining room and recreation room. Expansion also has allowed space to house two fire trucks which had been sitting outside, and has allowed "opening up" of the operations office.

San Diego Official To Urge Grove Annexation

First In Series Of Speakers on Local Government

The Lemon Grove Men's Club this week will launch a series of public interest programs aimed at exploring all aspects of proposals for three types of local government for Lemon Grove.

Speakers are to discuss 1) remaining as an unincorporated community, 2) annexing Lemon Grove either to La Mesa or San Diego, and 3) incorporating as a sixth class city.

George Ormand, associate planner in the San Diego City Planning Department, is scheduled as speaker this Friday. He is to discuss advantages of Lemon Grove annexing to San Diego—as based on a survey recently made by the city at the request of a group of Lemon Grove residents.

Mayor Charles Dail of San Diego had planned to address the club this Friday but had forgotten a prior engagement. He is to appear at a later date, to discuss annexation.

Other speakers are expected to argue for or against each of the other governmental possibilities.

The series of speakers is being lined up by a special commitee composed of Tony Sonka, long time Lemon Grove resident; Larry Folda, president of the Chamber of Commerce; James Spears, director of the Chamber; Harry Griffen, Helix Irrigation District commissioner, and John Dail, local insurance broker.

Griffen said that "everybody agrees that something should be done about local government." He added that the club will "explore" the three types of government available in the next few months and arrive at a decision "only after careful consideration."

William F. Davies, club president, said "This is not a factional movement. All interested citizens are invited to attend these meetings, held each Friday noon at Michael's Cafe."

Davies went on to say that the club will conduct a poll of all local residents in order to find out how the public feels about the three alternatives for local government.

Miss Carroll Sewell, senior at Mt. Miguel High School, poses for the photographer. In case you hadn't noticed, she's holding a gold trophy and there are other trophies at her feet. The trophies will be presented to owners of the winning cars in the Lemon Grove Review Custom Car Show, February 13.

Commission to Meet To Study New Law

Proposal Would Reorganize County Boundary Commission

(County News Service)

The County Boundary Commission was scheduled to meet Thursday to consider plans which would give the commission power to change boundaries of areas proposed for annexation to cities—and to prevent such annexation at all if it wishes.

And at the same time, the commission was to study a plan for making the commission a separate county department with its own staff and its own budget.

Frank Gibson, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, summoned members of the commission to a special session to examine proposals for new state legislation, suggested for increasing the boundary commission's power. These follow recommendations made before a Legislative sub-committee meeting recently in San Diego. Proposals for new laws came from South Bay officials, who asked for easier de-annexation procedures and stricter control over annexations.

Ten proposed changes in the law have been recommended. These include more stringent requirements on islands that may be left in county areas by annexations and "corridors and spurs."

The proposals would generally give more power to the commission, which now is only supposed to approve or disapprove boundaries. Under the suggested legislation, the commission would be allowed to change proposed boundaries, prohibit annexations and add or subtract from any annexation or boundary questions submitted for approval.

Commissioners throughout the state have protested that many annexations have not been in the best interests of the cities or other political subdivisions seeking to change boundaries.

In addition to the proposed changes in the state laws, the San Diego Boundary Commission is being asked to consider its own reorganization. The recommendations were filed only this week by Helen Kleckner, secretary to the commission, and Rudolph Benitez, the commission's acting engineer.

Both Mrs. Kleckner and Benitez favor establishment of the commission as a separate county entity, with its own budget and its own staff.

Chamber Okays $10,000 Budget; Eyes Dues Hike

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce board of directors this week approved a budget of $10,200 for the current year but it was followed by demands for increased dues to meet increased services by the chamber.

President Larry Folda said the executive committee will meet next week to discuss the dues structure as well as new, proposed services that have been demanded by members.

Finance Chairman Robert Vaught, charged with raising $3,000 to augment the chamber's income, gained approval of a plan to conduct a vacation contest, the winner of which would be a contributor to the chamber project.

The directors also approved the following committees, all of which already were functioning:

Finance, R. Vaught; membership, Henry Templeton; protective association, Milt Austin; retail merchants, Jim Hegarty; program of work, Bill Davies; publicity, Jim Boyd; roads and streets, Wallace Dorman; industrial development, Norman Lighthart; legislation, V. J. Dorman, and parking, Ken Rister.

Director Connie Carlton reported that the repaving of the north side of Broadway between Imperial and Grove was held up by rain, but the contract had been signed by R. Speaks of Lemon Grove.

Taxpayers To Hear Sheriff's Officer

A representative of the sheriff's department is scheduled to address the Lemon Grove Taxpayers Association Monday night. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. February 8 at the Lemon Grove Junior High School auditorium.

Swallows Arrive Six Weeks Early

We haven't any spies around the mission at Capistrano, but we're betting that the swallows come back early this year.

Between 200 and 300 swallows landed in a barley field at Jamacha Junction a few days ago and stayed for five or six hours.

Ted Brown, who operates the Jamacha Junction Feed Store, said that this is the earliest he remembers ever having seen them.

After feeding and resting for about half a day, Brown said, the birds flew off to the northwest, apparently headed for Capistrano — where they are said to arrive every March 19.

GRIFFEN REELECTED

Harry Griffen of Lemon Grove, president of the board of directors of Helix Irrigation District, this week was reelected president of the Irrigation District Officers Association of San Diego County. The association meets every two months to discuss county water problems and make recommendations to the Board of Supervisors.

Entry Deadline Near For Custom Car Show

Two sweepstakes trophies and six divisional trophies have arrived for awards to owners of "customized" stock and sports cars. The show is open to any resident of the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area.

Trophies are on display at the office of the Homeland Publishing Co., 7834 Lester Ave., Lemon Grove; at the Jack-in-the-Box restaurant on Broadway, and at the State Farm Insurance Co. office.

The show—open to cars with special paint jobs, special engine work or special body jobs—will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, February 13, on the parking lot at the First National Bank, Imperial Avenue at Golden.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is to handle the entries and the judging. Jim Boyd, president of the Jaycees, said that the car show committee (headed by Jay White) is composed of Clarence Scheidle, Lemon Grove Paint and Body Shop; Abe Mukai, truck farmer; Terry Carlton, Cross Construction Co; Kent Cross, Cross Const. Co; Joel Frank, IK Used Cars, and Joseph Payson, Tri-Co Floors.

Entries may be turned in to Jay White at the Jack-in-the-Box, to Boyd at the State Farm Insurance office, to Wayne Kincaid at Lemon Grove Motors or to Don Wilson at the Homeland Publishing Co.

Entry blanks may be obtained at these same places.

The car show will be open to the public.

Organizers Eye Plan For YMCA Branch

V. J. Dorman has been named chairman for the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area as members of the YMCA plan to organize a branch facility to serve Lemon Grove, Spring Valley, La Mesa, El Cajon, Fletcher Hills, Lakeside, Santee and Carlton Hills.

Members of the Heartland YMCA Organizing Committee met recently to discuss forming a branch in the "Heartland" area.

Mel Chater, general secretary of the YMCA of San Diego and San Diego County, spoke to the group on methods for forming the YMCA branch.

John Davis, chairman of the organizing committee, announced the following appointments for area chairmen; Tom Warburton for La Mesa; Larry Kollath for El Cajon and Fletcher Hills; Virgil Sherril for Lakeside, Santee, and Carlton Hills; and V. J. Dorman for Lemon Grove and Spring Valley.

Other appointments were: Von Marshall of La Mesa, finance chairman; Keith Dolan of Spring Valley, survey chairman; and Rupert Linley of El Cajon, branch regulations chairman.

The organizing committee is now in the process of securing 10 men from each area to fill committees before making a formal request for authority to form the Heartland YMCA Branch.

$7-Million Plan To be Studied by Irrigation Board

Helix Irrigation District directors will meet next Thursday to discuss a proposal for spending more than seven million dollars for improvements in the next five years..

The proposal lists an additional 4½ million dollars worth of improvements which the district staff says need to be considered.

The items, said to be needed to keep the water company's services up to standard, include three million dollars for replacement of unlined pipe, three million for improvement of feeder lines, half a million for tanks and pumping plant improvement, a quarter of a million for a flume paralleling line, and nearly a million for improvements in service to marginal areas.

The additional four and a half million would be spent for replacement and construction of lines and for roofing the Grossmont reservoir.

Stephens said that Mrs. Darlene Lehman, 60, of 3028 Main St., took her own life. Her body was found by her husband, William, 91, in a laundry room at the rear of their apartment.

The DIMMER VIEW

There is an advertisement running in a national publication of the newspaper industry that rings an editorial bell with us.

The advertisement, sponsored by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, contains remarkably few words, all of them well chosen and effective.

The Globe-Democrat, we are certain, will forgive us for changing one word. The Globe-Democrat is a big daily. Their advertisement refers to "daily" newspaper. We changed it to read "local" newspaper and the word appears in the final sentence.

Because we feel so strongly that the hometown newspaper, be it daily or weekly, fits perfectly into the Globe-Democrat's well-worded picture, we are dishing it up like this:

INDIGNATION!

What makes a whole city get informed enough and aroused enough to correct bad conditions in government, traffic, crime, etc?

Isn't it true it's almost always your local newspaper?

When President Eisenhower gave his Economic Report recently, he described the condition of our country as "diffused well-being."

There are many social and economic improvements over the past decade to back up this report.

Examples: purchasing power of workers has increased $350 a year; auto ownership is up 56 per cent; homeowners have increased three per cent, and life insurance coverage is up 50 per cent.

Infant mortality rate dropped 20 per cent and school population increased 50 per cent, he said.

Television sets owned (up 900 per cent) and worksaver appliances (up 20 per cent) add to the dramatic picture.

Employment is at a record level, too.

In this garden of roses, however, appears to be a local thistle.

State Senator Hugo Fisher, who believes the state economic picture measures up to that of the nation, says the San Diego scene just isn't that rosy.

Unemployment, induced by the shift of emphasis from airframe manufacture to missiles has spelled unemployment in San Diego county, he says.

He called upon Governor Pat Brown for a conference here this month to study the problem.

In his request for the conference, Senator Fisher said defense spending, particularly for aircraft, is of great importance to the San Diego area and there are "indications that the air frame dollar will be substantially curtailed," perhaps in the near future.

It seems odd that this county could have an unemployment problem while the rest of the nation is bursting at its job-opportunity seams.

Some signs tend to prove Senator Fisher to be wrong. Others seem to set a pattern for a reduced employment trend.

The California Department of Employment in its San Diego Labor Market Bulletin last week reported that employment in San Diego reached a record-breaking 305,000, up 3,8000, in December. The monthly average was 296,900 for the year. In 1958 the average was 280,800.

The San Diego Economic Bulletin published by the San Diego Chamber of Commerce, forecasts a prosperous year for employables. Residential construction and retail trade will demand more workers in 1960 , it says.

Retail trade people say more clerks and the like will be need-

Chicken Ranch Target of Action By Health Dept.

SAN DIEGO (CNS)—Abatement proceeding against a Lemon Grove chicken ranch as a public nuisance were authorized Tuesday by the County Board of Supervisors.

The action was asked by Dr. J. B. Askew, the county's public health officer.

Target of the suit will be a chicken ranch located at 8135 Mt. Vernon Ave., Lemon Grove, now operated by the DeStotle family.

Askew reported to Supervisors that the ranch has been the target of complaints for several years. He stated that investigation showed the complaints to be justified and that written complaints to the owners have not resulted in any improvement on conditions.

Askew alleged that he had pictures which the county counsel's office declared were evidence the ranch is a public nuisance.

Thompson sub machine gun sling is adjusted by Senior Chief Gunner's Mate Donald E. Gordon, who has spent more than 20 years handling weapons such as this. Chief Gordon, who retired from the Navy on Monday, plans to live in Lemon Grove with his wife and five children.

USS Arizona Survivor Retires to Lemon Grove

"I was in the ship's chow hall when the first bomb hit. I had no doubt what it was. Only war could sound like that."

These are the words of Donald E. Gordon, senior Chief Gunner's Mate, Ordnance Chief at the Main Armory at the U. S Naval Training Center, San Diego, one of the 48 survivors of the sinking of the battleship Arizona.

Chief Gordon, a native San Diegan, retired Monday after a Navy career of 20 year. He, his wife, and their five children will live in Lemon Grove.

"I broke into a dead run to my battle station, the aft turret," he related. "There, our team changed to dungarees and was ready to fire when General Quarters was sounded."

The fourteen-inch guns manned by Gordon, then a GM2, were ineffective against the darting Mitsubishi Zeroes. Three bombs exploded against the turret's heavy armor, hurling in the firing team violently about.

"A torpedo tore the ship below the water line," he continued, "and the turret well began flooding with water. Escaping chlorine gas forced us from the protection of the turret.

"We were ordered to abandon ship," he said. "I jumped over the side and swam the hundred yards to shore."

When the Chief pulled himself ashore the first thing he noticed was that he'd forgotten to take off his shoes before going over the side. Often during the stress of battle such minor details flash into a man's mind. It wasn't until later he realized 1,102 of his 1,150 ship mates died on the flaming Arizona.

Gordon made his way to an air raid shelter, changed to dry clothing and reported to the NAS barracks for reassignment. The following day he helped bury scores of personnel killed in the sneak attack.

On Dec. 9, he volunteed to go aboard the destroyer MacDonough which was patrolling the area for enemy shipping.

While serving in this ship he participated in the landings on Guadalcanal and the Solomons. He was later transferred to the USS Hutchins for patrols around the Aleutian Islands.

The remainder of the 1940's was spent instructing at Gunner's Mate Class "A" School, Newport, R. I. While there he was promoted to Chief. Duty at the Naval Air Station, San Juan, Puerto Rico, and instructing at GM "A" School, Bainbridge, followed. He has been stationed at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, since September 1958.

Comparing the Navy of WWII with our present day organization he said, "I believe the era of the big ship is on its way out. Accurate missiles have replaced large guns and the expensive battlewagons have proved themselves an easy target for enemy pinpoint attack.

"Even if I had known what I was to go through during my Navy career, "he added, "I still would have enlisted."

Chief Gordon is one of three brothers who have made the Navy their careers. Retiring with him is his brother, LCdr. John T. Gordon, Administrative Officer, U. S. Naval Station, San Diego, with 26 years service. His other brother, James, is a Chief Warrant Officer stationed at Thule, Greenland.

Many people call and write to me all the year around about their peach trees, and more than half of the time their troubles come from having planted a fruit tree in the middle of a lawn or among other shrubs or plants that require a very different irrigation program.

Fruit trees require long, slow, deep irrigation every three or four weeks and the frequency with which you have to water adjacent plants is not good for them. Keep this in mind whenever you are planting fruit trees or shade trees this spring.

All established fruit trees should, of course be sprayed with a lime-sulphur-oil emulsion to check infestation and fungus diseases. And the same is true of shade trees, especially elm trees since this is the only time of year when you can spray effectively to prevent elm scale. Sycamore blight also can be prevented by spraying at this time.

The Mail Box

Editor:

Last week I was shopping in your community, spending money and as I don't know your town very well, I was parked on the north side of Broadway at the far east end. Pulled in between cars and went about my business.

When I returned to my car I had a ticket for "illegal parking." I looked around to see what was illegal about it. It took me two days and three phone calls to find out. The ticket was blurred and I had to wait for the officer to turn his copy of the ticket in to the Highway Patrol office before they could tell me. I was charged with parking in a crosswalk.

Now it seems to me that if you have a crosswalk it should be clearly marked. This one was covered with mud and the paint was so far gone it looked as if it was no longer in use.

Now it isn't going to ruin my budget paying the five bucks but I should think the people of Lemon Grove would want to know about it. I understand four or five tickets a day are issued at the same place. I hope for the sake of others you will have something done about it. Paint is cheap . . . goodwill is valuable.

Once Over Lightly

by Don Wilson

Ronnie has graduated from babyhood to boyhood and he has a certificate to prove it.

The occasion was the acquisition of his first haircut.

I'd show you a picture of all this, but I was pretty busy at the time, and I didn't get any pictures.

It all started some time ago when Ronnie (he's 11 months old now) started getting a bit tousled about the ears.

"Let's get the boy a haircut," I suggested to Paula.

"And lose all those pretty curls?" she said; "nothing doing!"

Periodically, right after each time somebody's say "Oh, isn't she cute!" I'd make the same suggestion. And each time, Paula'd resist.

But the other day we went down to get Ronnie his first pair of walking shoes and Bob the shoe man looked down over his pointed mustache and commented that this young lady sure had nice curls.

That did it.

"Hair cut!" I said.

"Okay," Paula said, thrown off balance by the fact that the shoes cost four and a half bucks more than she had told me they would.

So Ronnie and Paula and Katy and I went over to Gene's barber shop and Lou the barber had a vacant chair so we put Ronnie in it.

For about 10 seconds.

Then Ronnie decided that he had been there long enough and started to climb down.

"Maybe you could sit here and hold him," Lou suggested.

I tried it, and it worked. For about a minute.

Then Ronnie started looking around the shop. Just as Lou would reach for him with the scissors, Ronnie would turn his head.

Paula dangled a paper sack in front of Ronnie. That worked for a while, but he lost interest in the sack. Paula tried dangling a pair of gaily-colored socks. That worked for a while.

Pretty soon, Paula ran out of interesting objects and resorted to funny faces. This worked for a while, then she ran out of funny faces.

Katy offered her purse, with all the gadgets that a nine-year-old girl carries in a purse. That worked for a while.

Ronnie was losing hair rather rapidly at this point. Some of the curls were being gathered by Katy for preservation. A few strands of hair were falling on the floor.

The rest of the hair was going down my neck and into my pockets.

After a while, Lou finished with the scissors and reached for the electric clippers. He looked a bit dubious.

"Don't worry," I said; "Ronnie's been hanging around while I shave with my electric razor. He won't be scared of the noise."

And he wasn't.

When the clippers started buzzing he chortled with glee and tried to take them away from Lou. They didn't scare him a bit. But Lou didn't get very far trying to use them either.

After a few minutes of this, Ronnie lost interest in the clippers and everything and decided to leave. It took all four of us to keep him in the chair.

By this time we were near enough to the end of the job that I just threw a half nelson on the little rascal and held him in place while Lou polished him up.

Then Gene fished out a beautiful certificate and Lou signed it, telling of the date of Ronnie's "graduation" from babyhood.

We put Ronnie's cap on him and went home.

At home, Paula took the cap off and looked at her young son.

"He doesn't look like my little baby any more," she said with a slight sniffle.

But I didn't answer. I was on the back porch, sweeping myself off with the vacuum cleaner.

ed as shopping centers begin to open this year.

On the other hand, John Quimby, Executive Secretary of the San Diego Labor Council said last week unemployment in San Diego is between 14,000 and 15,000 and is growing.

The State Labor Market Bulletin, for all its prediction of a bright business year, did note in a closing paragraph that unemployment would continue rising beyond January and would rise to 20,000 or more before it levels off.

Supervisor David Bird, commenting on people and things during a talk in Lemon Grove last week made an interesting observation.

"There are 70,000 more people and 40,000 more cars in San Diego County this year than there were last . . . and the rate of migration is increasing," he said.

Many of these people will seek jobs, but they'll provide jobs too. Just keeping those 40,000 cars in repair (Bird said they would stretch from San Diego Civic Center to the one in Los Angeles if they were put in a single line) should guarantee work for every mechanic in San Diego County.

It is hard to accept the proposition that San Diego County is the only area in California with an employment problem and it will be interesting to see what Senator Fisher and Governor Brown propose to do about it when they hold the conference in San Diego February 16.

School Board Offers Street-Widening Land

The La Mesa-Spring Valley School District board of education meeting last week had a full agenda, with the majority of the items pertinent to the Spring Valley area. Some of the meeting was in the form of a hearing.

The board adopted a resolution to dedicate an easement and right-of-way for the widening of Conrad Drive along the Spring Valley Junior High School frontage. The board felt that this will be of benefit to the community and the School District. It was ordered that the deed be executed to the County of San Diego. There were no objections.

In regard to the proposed Highlands Ave. Elementary School to be located at South Barcelona and Highlands Blvd., it was reported that the State Allocation Board has granted funds to meet the payment due in escrow for the site in the amount of $71,000. The Tomi Yadas now occupy the site for farming purposes. On the land is a packing shed and a frame house. The board of education said it will allow the Yadas to retain the packing shed until further development on the school. The house will be sold by the school district.

The board adopted a resolution to authorize the county counsel to proceed with filing of condemnation action to acquire property for the site of the Garden Valley Elementary School at the end of Olive Drive near Helix Street. Part of the action is for a road to lead into the school site. The board recommended that a date be set to establish values to acquire this property through further negotiations or by court action. Owners of the land are Nobuo Otsuka, Kenneth Otsuka and Susie B. Albright. Owners of the road are Mrs. Arlene Carns, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Fritz, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Thomas.

In the progress report on school sites in the area, it was stated by Fred Lance, business manager for the district, that in the case of the property for the site of the La Presa Junior High School, it may be necessary to go to court to establish a price on the property. Daniel Schnabel is the attorney represeting the Pasco Builders, one of three property owners of the site.

Glenn Murdock, superintendent of the school district, recommended that the district back the move to establish a junior college in the Grossmont area. But, he pointed out, as long as there were only three board members present at the board meeting, further talk on the subject should be postponed until a full board is present.

Statistical Report Misses Vital Fact

The fact that approximately one-fourth of the school teachers in the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District are men is one pertinent fact not covered in a newly released statistical report by Dorothy L. Harding, director of personnel.

In her work as director of personnel, Miss Harding employs dozens of new teachers each year and finds that potential teachers ask many questions regarding their future in La Mesa-Sprng Valley area. "The question regarding the number of men teachers is asked, surprisingly enough," she said, "by men teachers."

"Evidently they want to know if they will be entering a situation dominated by women. The fact that about 25 per cent of our teachers are men seems to reassure them," she said.

Miss Harding also noted an interest in the answer to the same question when it is asked by young, unmarried women teachers.

"Next year I'll include those statistics too," Miss Harding said.

Among the information summarized in the statistical report is the fact that 58 vacancies were caused in the period from September 1958 to September 1959 by resignation and other causes. Pregnancies accounted for 8 vacancies, she said, and departure from this area accounted for 16. Other causes included items such as family responsibilities, marriage,, advanced study, health, overseas teaching, military service, acceptance of other positions and one death.

In the 1958-59 period the district employed 681 persons, the report showed. Of these 441 were certificated persons, those having teaching credentials, with the actual number of classroom teachers being 356, special education teachers, 12; camp teachers, 14; school nurses, 10; and coordinators, psychologists, home instructors, speech therapists and remedial reading teachers, 15.

The median, or average age of those listed above was 34, with the youngest teacher being 20 and the eldest, 63.

In terms of degrees held, they ranged from 327 bachelor's degrees, 99 master's degrees, 6 doctor's degrees and 11 registered nurses and public health nurses. The most numerous degree was the bachelor of arts 233, and the rarest a bachelor of literary interpretation.

The average length of service with the school district for staff members is seven years, with 73 being in the first year with the district and one in the 39th year.

The statistical summary reported the distribution of salaries for all persons on the teachers' salary schedule, with 53 persons being paid $4,704 at the lowest point in the distribution and two being paid $8,520 at the highest point. The average salary was $6,000 for one year's contract and the median, a statistical average, was $5,604.

CONDEMNATION OK'd

SAN DIEGO (CNS) — Condemnation proceedings for the widening of Harness street, Spring Valley, have been approved by the County Board of Supervisors. The Board's action included adoption of a resolution declaring that acquisition of rights of way for the improvement of the street, which is described as a county road, is a "public necessity."

58 Students Plan Practice Teaching

A total of 58 student teachers will be assigned to classrooms in the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District during the college semester beginning Monday, according to Dr. David D. Pascoe Jr., assistant superintendent.

The student teachers from San Diego State College will be assigned to work with experienced teachers at 10 elementary and two junior high schools in the district, ranging from kindergarten through junior high school subjects such as music, science, homemaking and the like.

As student teachers, the college students receive college credit for their work and are guided in their teaching by college supervisors, their supervising teacher and by the school principal.

As participants they help the teacher to whom they are assigned and assist in the teaching of individuals, small groups and the entire class. As they progress the students gradually assume greater responsibility for up to an entire half day of classroom instruction.

Dr. Pascoe described the student teaching arrangement as one which permits the school district to participate actively in the training of elementary teachers, now in short supply, as well as to serve as something of a preliminary aid to possible recruitment of the student teachers as full-time staff members.

Chromium Plating

Chromium plating was first used commercially in 1924 by the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, Washington, D. C., on plates for printing money and stamps. Its use was an enormous stimulant to the nickel plating industry since the chromium surface required a much thicker layer of nickel under it to provide corrosion- resistance and to facilitate bonding.

OUTDOOR FANS

Nearly half the homes built in Oregon last year had some form of outdoor patio deck, and most of them were built of husky Douglas fir 2x4s set edgewise on a fir framework of heavier framing timbers.

Jacob Wilson, 97, sands off his latest construction project, a hand made cradle, in preparation for his great grand-daughter's arrival. Looking on is his great-grandson, six-year-old Michael Wilson.

97-Year-Old Builder Still Keeping Busy

By Tommy Thomas

The old adage, "Once a Mason, Always a Mason" could be twisted around to read, "Once a Builder, Always a Builder," And this very well could apply to 97-year-old Jacob Wilson of San Diego, who has been making regular visits to the home of his grandson and family, the Richard Wilsons of 10171 Ramona Dr., Spring Valley. Mrs. Wilson is president of the Casa de Oro PTA.

Jacob Wilson's latest construction project has been a hand-made cradle, which he is presenting to Mrs. Richard Wilson for her new baby, due to arrive in March.

A native of New Brunswick, Canada, Jacob Wilson is one of 13 children, five of whom are still living. He moved to New Hampshire at an early age. It was there he met the girl who was later to become Mrs. Jacob Wilson.

In New Hampshire, Wilson became interested in construction and decided to learn the trade.

In 1901 he and his wife, with their two young sons, headed for California. In a freight car, which they rented, they brought along all their furniture, a horse drawn buggy (minus the horse) and (of all things) a sleigh.

The family settled down in Petaluma and later moved to Berkeley.

After the San Francisco earthquake in 1906, Wilson was kept busy helping to rebuild the stricken city.

During his active years in the construction business, he owned a lumber mill in Northern California and built several big churches, one of them being at Ft. Bragg.

The "near 100" Jacob Wilson who has nearly all his own teeth, was never sick in his life until he reached his 80s. Then he underwent two operations and was taken down with pneumonia. He recently was attacked by the flu bug, but recovered rapidly.

Jacob Wilson lives with one of his two dentist sons, Dr Floyd Wilson, DDS. Mrs. Jacob Wilson passed away about 13 years ago, in San Diego. Wilson has five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

One of his main sources of enjoyment is reading western stories, of which he never seems to tire.

To what does Jacob Wilson contribute his longevity? Good clean living . . . No smoking, no drinking, no swearing and keeping busy. His diet . . . Mostly pickles and sweets.

All-Breed Dog Show Set

A county-wide, last call for registration in Southern California's major all-breed dog show, to be staged in Balboa Park, San Diego, Feb. 21, is being sounded by Mrs. L. O. Fournier of Spring Valley, county registrar of the Silver Bay Kennel Club.

Mrs. Fournier reported that registrations for the canine classic are being received in record-breaking numbers, San Diego County entries outnumbering those from the city almost 11 to one. Registrations close Feb. 8 in the 727 Venice Blvd., Los Angeles offices of Jack Bradshaw, show superintendent.

Entry blanks are still available at veterinarians and pet shops throughout the county says Mrs. Fournier.

Heitfeld's appointment was announced by Robert McClure, the exposition's secretary-manager, and Earl V. Roberts, new board of directors president.

The boy was born at Hillside Hospital and was the couple's first one.

World's Greatest Nickel Source

When nickel ore was first discovered during the Nineteenth Century in the Sudbury region of northern Ontario, early prospectors thought the ore contained only copper. Later it was found that the ore yielded more nickel than copper. This region for more than the past 50 years, has been the world's greatest source of nickel.

BANCROFT BAPTIST

"Televangelism" is a nationwide program being broadcast on television and being projected in this area by the Southern Baptist Conference, it was announced recently.

The dramatic television series "The Answer," produced by the Southern Baptist radio and television commission, is the nucleus of "Televangelism." In past years the program has had outstanding results, according to reports from newspapers and magazines. It combines a weekly non-denominational drama with personal evangelism.

This television series will continue each Sunday at 8:30 a.m., over KFSD-TV (Channel 10). It is a public service, says Rev. Lewis Ginn, pastor of the Bancroft Baptist Church.

"The Answer" has become one of the nation's leading religious programs," says Rev. Ginn. The series is being made available to more than 90 per cent of television homes, he said. Rev. Ginn says that persons of all denominations and religious groups are invited to view "The Answer."

Approximately 25 young people of the Intermeditae class of the Bancroft Church joined Rev. Ginn and his family at their home, for an early breakfast a week ago last Sunday morning. They were in time to view the new program mentioned above.

A better understanding of the people and their needs, a clearer picture of the important part the Christian Church is playing in the future of Africa, will be discussed by the speaker.

This meeting is open to all interested persons. It is being sponsored by the Commission on Missions of the Lemon Grove Methodist Church under the chairmanship of Joe Turner. Refreshments will be served to all at the church beginning at 6:30 p.m. The church is located at the corner of Golden Avenue and Washington Street.

SERMON UNFOLDS SPIRITUALITY

The ministry of the apostle, Peter, in his work of saving and healing through spiritual means alone forms the major part of the Lesson-Sermon on "Spirit" which will be expounded in the various Christian Science churches Sunday. Among the many passages from The Acts of the Apostles, the account of the healing of the man lame from birth is included. When Peter healed the man through spiritual means alone, the healing was so complete that the Bible records, "And he leaping up stood, and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking, and leaping, and praising God" (3-8).

Faith is coming to God with empty hands. If our hands are filled with our own goodness or dependence on anything else; how is God going to fill our hands with His Gift? Empty your hands of everything else and pray God to fill them with His free gift of forgiveness and eternal life.

Matadors Smash Vaqueros 76-42 To Hold 4-5 Basketball Record

By Bill Ott Jr.

The Mt. Miguel Matadors' basketball team collected two victories in Metro League play last week, to finish the first round with a 5-4 record.

Miguel used a balanced attack and smashed the El Capitan Vaqueros 76-42 in play on the Matador floor last Tuesday afternoon. Friday night, the Sweetwater Red Devils invaded the Miguel gym seeking a revenge for an earlier loss to the Matadors, but lost by a greater margin as Coach Dick Ridgway's forces sent the Devils home with a 75-35 thumping.

Nine out of ten players on the Miguel squad scored against the Vaqueros, who suffered their eighth straight league setback. Dick Schwab and Bob Engberg tallied 15 points each, followed by Wayne Stephens' 14 point effort, and Bob Roberson's 12 points.

Brian Ross took home game scoring honors with 18 points. The next highest scorer for the faltering Vaqueros was Joe Sewall, who scored 5.

In Friday night's tilt, Bill Wylie of the Matadors turned in 16 points to receive scoring honors, while Bob Engberg trailed with 13. Lloyd Hawkins, Duane Freeman and Wayne Stephens each poured in 10 points for the winners.

Bob McCormick paced the losers in the scoring column by meshing 14 points in. Karl Jordan hit for 9 to help out the Devils, who suffered their eighth defeat, with one success.

In both games, the Matadors were at a safe margin, and all of the players were able to play. In the latter game, each member of the team scored, with 4 points being the minimum tally.

Score by Quarters

Mt. Miguel	23	16	12	25—76
El Capitan	7	16	11	8—42
Mt. Miguel	22	17	16	20—75
Sweetwater	5	10	13	7—35

The Matador Junior Varsity duplicated the Varsity, and scored two wins also. In Tuesday's game the Matadors handed the Vaquero JayVees a 51-34 loss, and in Friday night's preliminary, they downed the Red Devil Juniors, 47-32.

Undefeated Face Undefeated

The undefeated Mt. Miguel Matador wrestling team will tangle this Saturday evening in the Mt. Miguel gym with the undefeated El Cajon wrestlers.

The Matadors beat Chula Vista 41-5 last week, and the Matador Junior Varsity shut out the Chula Vista JayVees 44-0.
